Third Anniversary!

We had a wonderful anniversary service back in May. It tends to be our biggest service during the year with a two hour service and then fellowship afterwards. Dominic Pennachietti Sr, who was my first pastor at Bethel Baptist Church in Philadelphia shortly after I became saved, came and preached for us.

A year in reflection

During the service, we had lots of singing and we took a moment to view pictures from over the last year. When pastor Pennachietti preached, my wife stood next to him as she interpreted. It was refreshing listening to him preach and hear talk about the importance of pastors. Since we had an Italian guest preacher, all of our food was Italian themed and my meatballs were a hit. Pastor Pennachietti's wife, Linda, said that my meatballs were better than hers. I wasn't expecting to hear that from an Italian grandmother!

Visiting another church's revival

New Durham Baptist Church in northern New Jersey, right outside of New York City, had a deaf revival. I was able to borrow a van from another church and bring our church group there. Their guest speaker was Todd Reynolds, whom I worked with as associate pastors in my sending church. He is now a deaf pastor in Florida. It was great seeing him after such a long time and have my church family fellowship with other Christians. Please pray for this church, New Durham is very unique in that half of their congregation is deaf but they have no pastor that can sign with them. They are also currently looking for another interpreter for their services so the deaf ministry can continue.

Deaf Camp

During June, I was invited to preach at a deaf family camp in New York near Buffalo that we have been going to each year. It was a wonderful break from Philly's concrete jungle, and it was a blessing to spend time as a family, and share God Word to others from the northeast.
