Travel, and More Traveling!

These past two months, we traveled to a lot of places we never thought of going. While we did have many meetings in Maryland, we also visited mid-state New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Massachusetts, and traveling through states in between.

This included going to three conferences: the Quad State Sunday School Conference in northern New Jersey, Scripture Revival in Maryland, and the Deaf Baptist Ladies Retreat in Massachusetts. We got contacts and made new meetings from each one of them.

For the entire month of October, we had meetings one after another in different parts of New Jersey. After looking at my calendar, I just realized that I have been preaching at least once a week since August! That certainly kept my spirit up as it directs me into the Word of God more often for lessons and utilizing my spiritual gifts. It's always a blessing to show the churches we visited on what's it's like to "listen" to a deaf preacher. For many of them, it's a new experience. One elderly man told me that I "truly have ear's hear." The Word of God can only be heard with the heart, regardless of how we hear it.

Preaching with a baby

During one of those meetings, my son, Aiden, started crying in the nursery as soon as I started preaching and kept going for the rest of the service, and everyone in the congregation could hear him except for me! As soon as I was done, my wife got up immediately and went straight to the nursery. If I had known he was crying, I would have finished my message sooner! When I sat down after the service, the pastor of the church pointed at me from behind the pulpit and everyone else started to look at me. Some of the people began to raise their hands and then the pastor starts texting while he was still behind the pulpit, he sent me a message saying "We're taking you on for support!" I was thrilled! Praise the Lord!

A new (to us) car!

In the middle of September, we found out that our 2012 silver Kia Soul was burning oil at about 150,000 miles. This can lead to a host of problems that will be costly to repair, and to take apart the engine to replace the piston rings will cost two to three times more than the car is worth. In God's provision, a relative of ours decided to give us her 2012 green Kia Soul with 110,000 miles on it, free of charge! We truly thank God for this since it will be impossible for us to get another car loan at this point with only about 25% support after quitting both of our jobs earlier this year. Please pray for this relative, she is not saved.
